Chalk, Timber Merchants and Importers, Limehouse and Whitechapel Extent: 17 boxes, 19 volumes and 2 plans Description: These records relate to the firm of J. J. and S. W. Chalk, timber merchants and importers and the family members involved with running the business. The firm, based in Limehouse and Whitechapel, was active for much of the 19th and 20th centuries. The collection has been arranged into the following 6 series' of records, which reflect the main activities of the firm and the way in which it operated. B/CHA/1: Financial and Accounting Records (1858-1988) B/CHA/2: Administration (1937-1975) B/CHA/3: Employee Records (c. 1894-1974) B/CHA/4: Property and Premises (1819-1974) B/CHA/5: Personal Records relating to members of the Chalk family (1862-1988) B/CHA/6: Awards (1960) Admin History: The title of the firm refers to the brothers James Jabez Chalk (c.1836-1899) and Seymour William Chalk (c. 1838-1909), sons of James Chalk (c. 1801-1863) and Mary Ann Chalk (c. 1802-1879). In addition to their two sons, the Chalks also had two daughters, Sarah Priscilla (c. 1823-1896) and Susannah Eliza (c. 1825-1908) from James' earlier marriage to Priscilla Price. According to parish records from St. Dunstan's, Stepney, James Chalk and Priscilla Price married in 1821. Priscilla is listed as the mother of Sarah and Susannah on their baptism records from 1823 and 1825 respectively. It is likely that she died sometime between 1825 and 1834 at which point James Chalk remarried, however, it has not been possible to locate the records for Priscilla's death and James' marriage to Mary Ann in order to confirm these details. Some examples of J. J. and S. W. Chalk stationery from the 19th century cite the date of establishment of the business as 1826, whereas, other records from the 20th century (including stationery and building signage), cite the establishment date as 1814, more than 10 years	1819 - 1988

earlier. It is unclear where these establishment dates originated from as the firm J. J. and S. W. Chalk was not active until later in the 19th century. Nevertheless, there is evidence that the Chalk family was associated with the timber trade before the brothers, James Jabez and Seymour William, were born. For instance, their father, James Chalk, features in an 1827 London trade directory where he is listed as a lath, render and timber dealer based at No. 10. Cannon Street Road, St. George-in-the-East. He can also be found in subsequent trade directories from 1835-1863 (inclusive) in which he is listed as a timber merchant at various premises on the same road.

In the 1851 UK Census James and Mary Ann Chalk are recorded as living with their children, Susannah Eliza, James Jabez and Seymour William at No. 10 Cannon Street Road. Sarah Priscilla's absence is most likely due to the fact that she had married Thomas Angus Shaw (c. 1819-1905) in 1845 and had since left the parental home. The occupations of the two brothers are recorded as apprentice (James Jabez) and scholar (Seymour William). In a Memorandum of Agreement between a Mr. Henry Love and James Jabez Chalk, dated 5 July 1860 (ref: B/CHA/4/4), the latter is described as being a timber merchant.

During 1861-1862 the two Chalk brothers married two local sisters, Mary Ann and Emily Sarah, members of the Rumbold family (van builders and wheelwrights of Shadwell). Seymour William married Mary Ann on 15 August 1861 and James Jabez married Emily Sarah on 5 June 1862. A year later, within an 1863 London Post Office trade directory, the first listing can be found for James Jabez and Seymour William Chalk trading as timber merchants, based at 158 Cannon Street Road.

James Chalk died on 16 July 1863 and the loss of their father perhaps provided an impetus for the brothers to begin operating the business on a more official basis as the firm 'J. J. and S. W. Chalk'. Around about the same period (1865-1873) entries for 'Chalk Brothers and Shaw', timber merchants based at 60 Salmon Lane, Limehouse, feature in London trade directories. This suggests that James Jabez and Seymour William had another (separate or related) business operation for some time with their brother-in-law, and fellow timber merchant, Thomas Angus Shaw. Interestingly, from the 1860s, records in the archive provide evidence of another, different role undertaken by the timber merchants. Thus we find that James Jabez and subsequently his brother Seymour William, undertook work acting as executors - both as executors in charge of the estates of deceased family members and of the estates of others.

In an 1875 London trade directory a significant entry can be found relating to the J. J. and S. W. Chalk firm. This directory contains the first instance of the business' premises being located at Riga Yard, 32 Commercial Road, Whitechapel, in addition to the address at Salmon Lane. Evidence among the firm's records, including ledgers, confirm that the business was also operating out of Finland Wharf, 18 Church Row [later renamed Newell Street], Limehouse, from July 1882. Finland Wharf was based on the Limehouse Cut, a location which would have no doubt been attractive to the timber merchants as it provided them with access to timber being imported from Regent's Canal Dock. An 1882 London trade directory also confirms that the business was at that point operating out of two premises; at Commercial Road (Riga Yard), Limehouse and Church Row (Finland Wharf), Whitechapel.

James Jabez and Seymour William both had children who were later involved with the family business, for instance, Seymour James Chalk (1863-1929), who was one of Seymour William Chalk's sons, and James Jabez' son, Frederick Seymour Chalk (1870-1961). However, in the main it fell to Frederick Seymour Chalk and his son, Robert Marzetti Seymour Chalk (1913-1990), to carry on the family business in the 20th century.

Records from the firm in the 1950s, including Pension Scheme Trust deeds (ref: B/CHA/3/2/1/1) confirm that father and son were working together as joint owners of the business at that time 'carrying on business as Timber Merchants under the style of J. J. and S. W. Chalk'. It was also in this decade, in December 1956, that Robert Marzetti Seymour Chalk married Inge De Holstein (1916-1999). Shortly after, it is interesting to find that the firm was still using horses to help carry out its business operations. For instance, artefacts in the J. J. and S. W. Chalk archive include an R. S. P. C. A. Merit Badge and London Van Horse Parade Medal (ref: B/CHA/6/1-B/CHA/6/2), both awarded in 1960.

Following the death of his father on 5 October 1961, Robert carried on the J. J. and S. W. Chalk business alone. The firm subsequently hit hard times in the 1970s, not least due to a compulsory purchase order from the Greater London Council (GLC) and the London Borough of Tower Hamlets (LBTH) which required Mr Chalk to sell the J. J. and S. W. Chalk Limehouse wharves located at Newell Street. In June 1973 Robert's correspondence with his solicitors (ref: B/CHA/4/19/1/2) reveals information about the GLC's threat of proceedings against the firm if they were not given possession of the Chalk property by 31 July, although the correspondence also confirms that this issue was resolved with the business vacating the property in time for the deadline.

The firm's records also reveal other significant and related losses in the second half of 1973, when, following the completion of the compulsory purchase order, Mr. Chalk found it necessary to make employee redundancies. By contrast, administrative records from that period, such as correspondence from the mid 1960s - mid 1970s (ref: B/CHA/2/1), provide evidence of the extent of the J. J. and S. W. Chalk business empire and the good reputation of the firm throughout the timber trade industry at that time. For example, the volume of material itself is substantial and includes correspondents based in London as well as from locations much further afield, including England, Scotland and Wales. Internally, it is evident that those Chalk family members running J. J. and S. W. Chalk had respect for some of the business decisions made by their predecessors and they acknowledged that a substantial part of the firm's success was due to its reputation, rooted in the longevity of the business. A striking example of this can be found by comparing J. J. and S. W. Chalk order forms from 1887 with those from 1972. Such a comparison serves to demonstrate just how little the branding of the firm had changed in the 75 years which had elapsed since the time when James Jabez and Seymour William were in charge of the business.

The compulsory purchase order spelled the beginning of the end for the firm. In an 1973 London trade directory an entry can be found for the J. J. and S. W. Chalk business at 32 Commercial Road and Finland Wharf, Lea Wharf and Lime Wharf, 12/18 Newell Street, however by 1974 the entry lists the firm at 32 Commercial Road only. The last entry for the business can be found in a London trade directory from 1982, no entries are included in subsequent trade directories for 1983 onwards although it is possible that the business carried on in some rudimentary form for slightly longer than this. The date span of the J. J. and S. W. Chalk archive (1819-1988) reflects the fact that it contains a small amount of material with entries from later in the decade. These records include some financial records (series ref: B/CHA/1/8) and some personal records relating to Robert Marzetti Seymour Chalk and his wife, Inge Ketty Seymour Chalk (series ref: B/CHA/5/10).

Amount Book', followed by a date span. The volumes each contain an embedded alphabetic index, within which can be found listings of client names and quarterly figures per year. The dates on the covers of the volumes correspond in most cases exactly, or in some cases quite closely, to the dates of the information recorded within the main body/alphabetic index section, however, there are several other sections towards the rear of each volume. These later sections record totals by quarter/year by number of customers, rather than by client name (e.g. amounts owing at end of quarter; total amount of business in ledger etc) and have a broader date span than the date span given in the title of the volume. The respective colours of the covers of the amount books appear to correspond to the colour of a particular ledger (as specified in the totals listed at the rear of each volume). A system of blue and red marking has been used throughout the green volumes, whereby various sets of quarterly figures are frequently found to be shaded in blue or red. Request: NO - This does not represent a physical document. 	wages information strictly in the manner it was designed to capture this data. For instance, it has been used to record salary information for specific employees, with sections used exclusively for a particular member of staff (over a number of pages), rather than recording wages information for a particular week relating to all employees. Sometimes additional notes have been written across a number of columns which could each hold separate data. The amount of information recorded and columns completed varies throughout the volume, sometimes only the bare minimum is recorded (e.g. basic earnings, gross pay and net pay) whereas in other parts additional fields have been completed and more information captured about the wages of a particular employee. Records within this volume relate to the following employees: P. The date range reflects the fact there are some annotations at the start of the volume dated 1898. The first records within the volume relate to events in 1866-1867 including tea/dinner events and bazaars. There are records for events entitled 'Teachers Tea' and 'Teachers Dinner and Tea', these consist of lists of names and amounts and descriptions and amounts. The lists of names (some of which include J. J. Chalk and S. W. Chalk) most likely refer to contributors supporting the event and the other lists contain details of costs associated with putting on the event (e.g. food, drinks, equipment, supplies, entertainment etc). Within this part of the volume a summary of receipts and expenditure for a bazaar held in 1867 can also be found, this is proceeded by some short entries about a Ragged School (e.g. bonds and a Ragged School Bazaar Fund). The records about events are followed by some annual expenses and property related records dating from June 1873 - June 1887. The records include information about the value of stock, homes and land, the share of these attributed to different members of the Chalk family and amounts owing. At the very back of the volume there are some records relating to amounts due, these are dated 1876-1879. About half of the volume has been used. Request: YES - You can order this material to consult in our Reading Room.	1866 - 1898
B/CHA/1/8/3	Item Title: Gifts record book, 1932-1974	1932 - 1974

	Extent: 1 volume Description: Untitled volume containing annual lists of names, amounts (and sometimes addresses) dating from 1931-1974. The volume also contains some loose material dating from 1969-1970. The later records in the volume (1969-1974) generally include lists of J. J. and S. W. Chalk staff and a note of specific types of alcoholic drinks alongside the names. The loose material consists of handwritten lists, including several pages of names entitled 'Blotters 1969' and 'Blotters 1970', a list entitled 'Drinks' and lists of types and quantities of drinks, chocolates and cigarettes. The volume's usage is difficult to establish for certain and it may have been used for a range of purposes. It seems likely, however, that the at least some of the records relate to annual (possibly Christmas) gifts given by J. J. and S. W. Chalk to their staff, contractors, colleagues, customers and others providing regular services to the firm (e.g. postman, Stepney Service Station etc). The records are contained within a table format, with a number of entries listed for every two pages, arranged by sequential reference number. Each record contains information about the drawer, brokers and ships, the amount owed and whether or not this has been paid. The second half of the volume contains various records, dating from March 1872 - August 1880. Contained within a table format, these records have reference numbers and some are identified as records of bills receivable. From column headings/titles it is also evident that some of the other records found here relate to drawers, with J. J. and S. W. Chalk frequently listed. However, there are other records in this part of the volume that have been entered within columns/pages which do not have any headings/titles on them, making it difficult to fully understand the content of the information contained therein. Request: YES - You can order this material to consult in our Reading Room.	1871 - 1880

	Medium volume entitled 'Bills Payable' on one cover and 'Bills Receivable' on the other. Contains records of bills payable and receivable relating to the shipment of timber dating from July 1880 - March 1897. Records within the bills payable section date from September 1880 - 18 March 1897. The records are contained within a table format, with a number of entries listed for every two pages, arranged by sequential reference number. Each record in the bills payable section contains information about the drawer, brokers and ships, the amount and whether or not this has been paid. Records within the bills receivable section date from 16 July 1880 - 21 December 1896. They are in a similar table format to the bills payable but do not have reference numbers and differ as to column headings, information captured (e.g. this section does not include shipping details etc). J. J. and S. W. Chalk are frequently listed in this section within the column entitled 'by whom drawn'. About a third of the volume (between the bills payable and bills receivable sections) has not been used. Request: YES - You can order this material to consult in our Reading Room.

	Untitled black and white drainage plan (with some red pencil additions) which appears to be of the area where Finland Wharf was located. The plan shows the entrance from Church Row to various wharves, including Hampshire Wharf and Liver Wharf, leading to the towpath along Limehouse Cut. The date of the plan is unconfirmed, however, as Church Row dates from 1875 and was renamed Newell Street in 1938 and Liver Wharf can be found in trade directories for 1919-1920 (but not in earlier editions e.g. 1911 and later editions e.g. 1923) it seems likely that the plan dates from sometime around the late 1910s to the early 1920s. Request: YES - You can order this material to consult in our Reading Room.

B/CHA/5/2/1	SubSeries Title: Executors' records relating to the Rumbold family, Van Builders and Wheelwrights of Shadwell Extent: 2 files, 4 volumes, and 2 documents Description: Records relating to the estates of Thomas Rumbold (c. 1807-1872) and his son Edwin Rumbold (c. 1833-1889). Thomas Rumbold's family business was based at High Street and Short Street, Shadwell. Edwin carried on the business following the death of his father in 1872, by the time of his own death in 1889 an auctioneer's office confirms that the business had been operating for over 50 years. James Jabez Chalk and his brother Seymour William Chalk both acted as executors to the Rumbold family, to Thomas Rumbold and Edwin Rumbold respectively. The records confirm that there was an additional personal connection between the Chalk family and the Rumbolds as James Jabez and Seymour William were married to daughters of Thomas Rumbold. Within records dated November 1878 Mrs Sarah Rumbold, James Jabez Chalk and John Atherton are listed as the executors of Thomas Rumbold's estate. Subsequently, when Thomas Rumbold's widow, Sarah Rumbold, died on 30 September 1881, James Jabez Chalk and John Atherton became the remaining two executors. Other Inland Revenue documentation from 1882 states that the children of Thomas Rumbold at that time were: Edwin Rumbold; Emily Sarah Chalk (wife of James Jabez Chalk); Mary Ann Chalk (wife of Seymour William Chalk); Elizabeth Rumbold; Thomas James Rumbold; William John Rumbold. Seymour William Chalk was an executor for the estate of Edwin Rumbold following the death of the latter in 1889. Request:	1870 - 1891

B/CHA/5/4	SubSeries Title: Records re J. Bonner and Co., Carpenters and Tin Canister Makers, Finsbury Avenue, E. C. Extent: 3 files Description: Mr James Bonner was a customer of J. J. and S. W. Chalk who died with outstanding debts to the timber merchants of £510. These records relate to the account held by Mr James Bonner (on behalf of J. Bonner and Co.) with J. J. and S. W. Chalk and the efforts of James Bonner's wife, Mrs. Emma Bonner, to settle the debts following her husband's death. The documentation provides evidence of the arrangements to settle the debt whereby J. J. and S. W. Chalk were to purchase Bonner property at 33 Cambridge Gardens, Notting Hill for £800. This purchase would be paid for by the timber merchants through the settlement of two debts owed by the Bonners (to the Chalks and the Starr Bowkett Benefit Building Society). On successful completion of the house sale J. J. and S. W. Chalk had agreed to cancel the debt of £510 owed to them for timber supply, in addition to paying the balance of £290 owed by the Bonners to the Starr Bowkett Benefit Building Society. The deeds for the property were to be made out in the name of Mrs. Mary Ann Chalk, wife of Seymour William Chalk. Request: NO - This does not represent a physical document.
